

Fly High!

Kite-flying can be a magical experience, especially when you share the experience with someone who is able to appreciate the beauty of wings taking flight. This was certainly the case for UCSI University's Best Buddies as they paired up with persons with learning disabilities from Dignity & Services (D&S) on 19th July 2009 to take them under their wings and go kite-flying. The children's faces lit with pure joy as their kites took off into the blue skies. They tugged, and ran and pulled the kites along under the guidance of their young coaches. It has been more than a year since the UCSI University started the Malaysian chapter for Best Buddies here. Kite-flying is still a favourite past time as those who had gone to Metropolitan Park discovered that day. This century old sport of kite-flying has certainly transcended time. And like this sport, all of the Best Buddies Malaysia members believe that friendships would also pass the test of time to remain strong and true like the kites that were flying in the wind. Salute!
