

Maxis, varsity bring WiFi to students

KUALA LUMPUR: The UCSI University and Maxis are teaming up to offer university students high-speed Internet access.

Under the agreement, Maxis will provide high-speed WiFi services up to 50mbps that can be subscribed directly using mobile phones.

Both parties have signed a memorandum of understanding to establish the smart partnership.

In addition, the services will enable students to interact with their lecturers outside their normal class hours, together with online delivery methods such as downloading podcats of their lectures, conducting a research and join online group discussions.

The WiFi service is currently on a free three-month trial basis and will be available at a low daily, weekly or monthly rate for students.

Maxis senior vice-president (business division) M Fitri Abdullah said tew international students at the University would also benefit from the partnership. — Bernama
