

UCSI University offers A-Levels external examination

KUCHING: UCSI University Sarawak Campus is currently conducting its January 2012 GCE A-Levels examination concurrently with other Edexcel centres worldwide.

The students have been putting in their best effort in the preparation for the exams with their lecturers through practicing exercise and past year questions.

More presence of individual student effort is seen throughout the campus where study groups are revising together in the library.

More and more students are taking A-Levels as the first move to later further their studies in various fields in many universities worldwide.

Taking the programme as stepping stone is a fine choice as the London GCE A-Levels, recognised worldwide, act as international tickets for those who wish to further their tertiary education at any part of the world.

With full recognition from the United Kingdom Office of Qualifications and Examinations Regulation by Edexcel International, UCSI University offers London Examinations Modular GCE A-Levels in Physics, Chemistry, Biology and Mathematics.

Many of the UCSI University A-Levels alumni pursued their studies in various science and medical fields in several countries including United Kingdom, the United States of America, Australia and India and most of them are now back to render their service to the society as doctors, engineers, pharmacists, dentists and other professionals.

The GCE A-Levels programme offered at UCSI University is different from many others as this eighteen months programme is flexible, allowing students to take up only two modules out of six per semester, which allows students to have more understanding and extensive preparation for their exams.

Examinations are taken in a modular manner and students are not tested comprehensively at the end of the studies. Each module covers specific areas of the whole specifications or the syllabus and students are expected to apply the knowledge learned in the Subsidiary Level (AS) in their subsequent module in the Advanced Level (A2).

The greater flexibility of the Edexcel A-Levels allows students to re-sit any module in improving the overall grades in each of the subject.

In fact, UCSI University Sarawak Campus has always maintains a very high passing rate every year with over 20% of the students scoring straight As in their GCE A-Levels examinations.

UCSI University, Sarawak Campus houses the Faculty of Hospitality and Tourism Management (FHTM) and the Pre-U Centre. This campus provides niche academic programmes to train all its students in many areas of hospitality and tourism as well as hone their management skills and teamwork.

The Pre-U Centre of UCSI University Sarawak Campus has consistently remained as the leading GCE provider in Sarawak and together with its foundation programmes serves as pathway for students to their degree programmes in UCSI University Campuses in Malaysia and other education institutions overseas.
